FENG ZHENGJIE & HEINER MEYER East meets West through Pop Art

DIE GALERIE Frankfurt
June 9 - August 28, 2010

For the first time ever, DIE GALERIE is presenting the oeuvre of the renowned German painter Heiner Meyer (b. 1953) in juxtaposition with works by the Chinese star artist Feng Zhengjie (b. 1968).

Heiner Meyer DIE GALERIE has already exhibited several times in its Frankfurt gallery, Feng Zhengjie has been presented in the Korean dependence with great success.

In his paintings Heiner Meyer reflects about the ceaseless desire for consumption and self-expression in our Western world. His glamorous protagonists, Hollywood stars or models in the lap of luxury, are generally known life style icons. His new series "Flowers", created especially for this exhibition, corresponds in a fascinating, provoking manner with the portraits of hybrid women by Feng Zhengjie. Both artists utilize the techniques of Pop Art and its closely related concept of serial pieces to illustrate contemporary social conditions – but their observations and reflections vary fundamentally. The result is an exciting discourse that poses questions on the own social positioning and that also explores the scope between closeness and distance, between East and West; a dialogue that searches for an exchange of cultures by means of similarities and differences. A trilingual catalogue on the exhibition has been published.
